

I personally thought that this was a country of free enterprise. It is sad that companies can't compete anymore. It is the competition in this country that drives our economy, it makes me think that maybe this type of thing is why our economy is in such shambles. I urge the FCC and the rest of the government to reconsider this action, and reconsider its American values and beliefs regarding this issue, unless we want this country to become a Communist state... I know I don't.
